Ryan

(14:00) Chris Landreth, National Film Board of Canada

A gentleman panhandler. One of the pioneers of Canadian animation. Oscar-nominee. Poor beggar. An artist unable to create. God observing the world. Fallen angel. Arrogant. Shy. Broken. Not destroyed. "Ryan" is based on the life of Ryan Larkin, a Canadian animator who, thirty years ago, at the National Film Board of Canada, produced some of the most influential animated films of his time. Today, Ryan is living on welfare and panhandles for spare change in downtown Montreal. How could such an artistic genius follow this path?

Innovation: The Miracle Cell

(52:00) Frank Simmons

A young mother, the victim of a car accident that has left her paralyzed, travels to Portugal to undergo a radical treatment. Adult stem cells will be harvested from her nose, amplified, and then injected into her spine. The hope is that the cells will renew and heal the spinal cord, and give her back some feeling and utility. Stem cell therapies, like this one, hold both great promise and great controversy. But just what is stem cell therapy and why is it such a divisive issue? Miracle Cell goes to the front line of regenerative medicine to follow spinal cord and heart patients undergoing stem cell treatments and track their recovery in the months that follow.

Showcase Screenings Schedule continued

3:00 PM- 4:00 PM

Ceausescu's Kids

(48:00) Mary Ann Alton, Barna Alper Productions

For a generation Romanian women were forced to have babies they didn't want. It was the work of a madman, Nicolae Ceausescu. He imposed a ban on abortion and birth control and forced every woman of child bearing age to have at least four children. Control over reproduction was strictly enforced. The infant and maternal death rate was high. Thousands of them had AIDS. Ceausescu's lasting legacy is a generation of unwanted children. Warning: This film contains shocking and graphic images.

4:00 PM- 5:00 PM

Talk Mogadishu: Media Under Fire

(50:00) Judy Jackson

Reporting live from hell Somali Canadians fight for media freedom in war-torn Mogadishu. It is simply, one of the worst places on earth. For more than a decade, the African nation of Somalia has languished in a state of near- total anarchy. Rival warlords have battled for control of this lawless country, killing thousands. The former capital, Mogadishu, is a ruined shell of a city where torture, kidnapping, and murder are the only things found in abundance. In the midst of violent chaos, HornAfrik is a rare beacon of hope.

7:00 PM- 8:30 PM

The Chris Awards Collection

A brief history...

The Columbus Film Council was founded in 1950, by the late Dr. Edgar Dale, Professor Emeritus of The Ohio State University and others interested in promoting the use of 16mm motion pictures. Two years later, the Columbus Film Festival was born. Since its inception 53 years ago, the object of the Film Council has been to encourage and promote the use of motion-based media in all forms of education and communication, not only in the local community, but throughout the world.

In 1985 the Chris Awards Film Collection was established at The Ohio State University's Department of Photography & Cinema. It's purpose is to encourage scholarly study of the photographic and electronic media of information, art, and entertainment genres. It contains a wealth of documentary and informational film and video research. The collection has been used as a data base for Master's theses and Ph.D. dissertations as well as general research.

Based on real events, Il Duce Canadese follows the experiences of the fictional Alvaro family as they struggle to stay afloat in a community impoverished by the arrest of its men and the effects of anti-Italian prejudice. It is the story of how Italian men came to be considered a threat to national security, were arrested and held prisoner in a camp. Il Duce Canadese shows a family and community try to come to terms with events over which it had no control, and throws light on a little known chapter in history which has new relevance for the world today.

But events spiral out of control and overwhelm him: the Sixers' International President is assassinated in his presence, fellow Sixer Roots Racine conspires to undermine him, former friend Ross Desbiens (Roy Dupuis) opens a rival outlaw motorcycle club and his wife Karen betrays him to the police. Bob reels from one crisis to another, climaxing when his son Jonathan is killed in an assassination attempt on Bob.

Bulky's is a fictional burger chain which, like most fast-food joints, is run almost exclusively by high school students. The staff are far too concerned with friends, dating, body image, school, the in-crowd, fashion, sports, make-up, cars – the important issues of teen life, to bother much with flipping burgers. The exception is Ben, the assistant manager, who takes his job seriously - too seriously. Ben actually expects his co-workers to serve the customers! And that can be so hard to do, cause for the staff at Bulky's, life is too short to bother greeting customers with a (forced) smile and a (falsely) cheery, "Will there be Fries with That?"
